Resources for Seniors Are Just a Click – or Call – Away

Free advice lines, Web sites and assistance are included in FiLife article

(Orlando, FL, October 16, 2009) — Free help is available to seniors with a simple telephone call to a nonprofit credit counseling organization or any number of public and private sector assistance resources, and most of these organizations offer online service as well. Seniors simply need to know where to look!

An article just published in FiLife (<http://www.FiLife.com>), the joint venture between Dow Jones & Company, Inc. and InterActive Corp a/k/a IAC (Nasdaq: IACI), offers a wealth of links and phone numbers to give seniors the information they need to find help. Writer Mark Hoewing of InCharge® Debt Solutions (<http://www.InCharge.org>) chose FiLife to publish this valuable information because the site is a network of experts and community members, where people get help, advice and share opinions on family finance. The full article can be read at <http://www.filife.com/guides/resources-for-seniors-are-just-a-click-or-call-away>.
